Vinita, Okla. Monday, May 13.

'Tis said that Governor Cruce is looking for a dark horse for the democratic nominee. We would like to know what the governor has to do with this question. The democracy met in delegate convention and selected delegates from Oklahoma, instructing half to vote for Wilson and the other half to support Chatup Clark, which they are in duty bound to do. How is Cruce going to "scatter sunshine" by having these delegates disobey the mandate of their maker and follow after a strange God?—Tablequah Arrow.

THE GLAD TOILER.

The man who really likes to labor, whatever the tool that he employs—the hammer, trowel, pen or saber—will find this life replete with joys. But sorrow looms up, grim and bulky, to him who holds that toil is woe, whose head is sore, whose face is sulky, whose feet are twelve degrees below. The willing worker doesn't languish among the walling unemployed, his cottage doesn't reek with anguish, his larder knows no aching void. I hired a man to wash my surrey which got all muddy in a ditch; he gave up all his time to worry over the vices of the idle rich. He boomed away like some pipe organ denouncing this and roasting that, and throwing things at J. Pierp Morgan and every other plutocrat. And so I fired him through the transom when he had loafed for half a day, and hired Jim Briggs to wash my hansom and rid its shining wheels of clay. With noble ire he never bristled, his soul with sorrow wasn't sour; he merely rustled round and whistled and cleaned the blamed rig in an hour. And old Jim Briggs is always busy, for men who want a useful hand just chase round till they are dizzy; and hand him coin to beat the band.

WALT MASON.

On the occasion of the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Cherokee seminaries at Tahlequah last week the following beautiful tribute is from the pen of Mrs. R. L. Fite:

"By the Curtis Act of Congress several years ago our government ceased to exist and for several years we have been preparing ourselves for this final close and now in this year of 1909 the door of the Cherokee National Female Seminary is closed forever. Struggle as we may it is with a feeling of extreme sadness that we face this inevitable situation. The Alumna Association of the Cherokee National Female Seminary held its last meeting the other day in this building. We will meet here no more; we have come to the parting of the ways; we have come to where the trail divides. But is our life as a school closed? No! Doomed to reaction as an advancing pendulum is doomed to retrace its cycle, as a spring time fresher bears onward the driftwood in its path, the influence of this dear old school is in every heart. The women who have grown from girlhood to womanhood within its walls are the mothers of the voters of this grand commonwealth. Our forefathers builded better than they know. The women have been properly trained for the duties, the responsibilities, the realities of life—the men have furnished the brain and the intellect of a new state. No! Not as a species doomed to extinction; we are on the threshold of a new life, an era exceeding all others at this stage of Cherokee history, endowed with attributes to enjoy its beauty, its grandeur, its sublimity. What a blessing! Such a life at this time we can not prize too highly. The opportunities are before us but not less great its responsibilities. May the influence of our dear old Alma Mater guide the destiny of our people and in the coming years flow down the stream of time, enriching its banks and increasing a volume until lost in the remote future with a feeling of thankfulness that the Cherokee National Female Seminary was the creation of their forefathers and the pride of their hearts."

To those desiring a genuine successful medical treatment of the hair and scalp, we will be glad to meet them at Hotel Hickman, room 15 this week. All scalp diseases, premature baldness, falling hair are successfully treated. Best of references given, some by people you know. J. HAIGH.

Exports of Sewing Machines From the United States.

Washington, D. C., May 13.—Sewing machine exports in the current fiscal year will make their highest record and will probably aggregate 10 million dollars. Over 160 million dollars' worth have been exported from the United States during the 48 years since the official record of their commercial movement began, of which sum 80 million dollars' worth, or one-half of the total, were exported in the brief period since 1900.

Figures compiled by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, indicate that sewing machines have for many years been an important factor of the export trade. In 1864, the earliest year for which a record is available the exports amounted to 11,062,708; in 1872, $2,436,085; in 1882, $2,647,515; in 1892, $3,133,992; in 1902, $4,023,697; and in 1912 will probably show a total of $10,000,000. The steady and substantial character of the growth is even more apparent from a study of the movement by decades. In the period from 1864 to 1870 the exports of sewing machines aggregated a little over 10 million dollars; in the decade 1871-80, 18 million; in the decade 1881-90, 26 million; in the decade 1891-1900, over 30 million; in the decade 1901-10, more than 61 million, the average yearly exports having thus increased from 1 1/2 million dollars in the 1864-70 period to over 6 million dollars in the decade ending with 1910, with indications that the current year will record a total of approximately $10,000,000.

The countries to which these increasing exports of sewing machines are distributed represent every grand division of the world. Europe leads all other sections, last year's exports thereto having aggregated $4,068,672 in value, as compared with $2,230,227 to South America, $1,662,689 to North America, $1,024,951 to Asia and Oceania, and $53,301 to Africa. Considering the exports to individual countries, Scotland heads the list as a market for American sewing machines, the exports thereto in the fiscal year 1911 having been valued at $1,436,291. Germany ranks second, with a total of $1,335,183. The next largest last year were $929,506 to Brazil, $610,789 to Argentina, $554,815 to Mexico, $455,520 to Australia and Tasmania, $436,059 to Canada, $389,406 to England, $364,030 to Cuba, $362,737 to Netherlands, $241,337 to European Russia, and $240,072 to Japan. In addition to the foregoing, scores of other countries are represented in various amounts from $200,000 downward, among them Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Uruguay, Peru, Venezuela and the Guianas, in South America; Central America and the West Indies, in North America; China, Korea, Siam, and Turkey, in Asia; the Philippine Islands and certain British, French, and German possessions, in Oceania; and Egypt, British Africa, Liberia, and various French German, Spanish, and Portuguese colonies in Africa. And while in some of these cases the exports are relatively small, the growth from year to year is evidence that American sewing machines are proving satisfactory, this being true not only of Europe and America but in numerous other parts of the world where customs of dress and habits of industry, especially as regards the use of machinery, are different from those which obtain in the United States.

The growth in exports of American sewing machines reflects the development of the domestic industry, the value of its product having increased from $4,403,206 in 1860 to over $28,000,000 in 1909.

New Industry for Italy.

In Italy a means has been discovered to turn to account the hitherto worthless pipe of the grapes used in wine-making. Oil is now extracted from them on a commercial scale by a process of direct heating with tetrachloride of carbon. The latter is obtained in abundance in Italy in the preparation of electrolytic soda.

Preparations for Shocks.

For most of the wrenches and jolts of life there are, happily, conditions which alleviate what would otherwise seem unbearable conditions which soften and break the most cruel shocks. Death, for instance, the greatest shock of all, unless it is very sudden, seldom comes as an unbearable wrench, because weakness or suffering has prepared us for it.

Bee's Eye for Landmarks.

There can be little doubt that so intelligent an insect as a bee has a long memory and a keen eye for landmarks. This is testified by the fact that almost all bees fly by day, whereas such creatures as moths—of no fixed home or occupation—fly in the darkness. A bee would be lost at midnight because it could not recognize its surroundings.

Wobbler Seldom Succeeds.

"Success in life depends far more upon decision of character than upon the possession of what is called genius. The man who is perpetually hesitating as to which of two things he will do, will do neither."—William Wirt.

Proof of Elephant's Sagacity.

Elephants are always quoted as being the most sagacious of animals. A story comes from Bombay, India, of one who saved the life of an artilleryman recently. The man was seated on the tumbrel of one of the guns, and fell off almost under the hind wheel. The elephant was just behind the gun and saw the danger the man was in. He lifted the wheel with his trunk, and kept it held up until the carriage had passed quite clear of the man. The act was witnessed by an officer of the artillery.

Men That Do Women's Work.

Among some of the American Indian tribes of the southwestern United States, says a writer in Wide World Magazine, there is a curious custom of men occasionally assuming the work of women as a life occupation. This, when it occurs, is voluntarily undertaken, and seems to be due to a preference for feminine labors, the man sinking his identity as far as possible by assuming woman's garb.

Rich Find of Old Silver Coins.

More than 2,000 silver coins have been found in a field near Ribe, the oldest town in the west coast of Jutland, in Denmark. The coins are of the "short-cross" type, issued in England under Henry II., Richard I., John, and Henry III., but always bearing the name of Henry, and chiefly of the mints of London, Canterbury and Winchester.

Reptiles That Have Long Life.

Some of the sacred crocodiles of India are said to be over a hundred, and vast estimates have been made of the ages of the giant tortoises of Madagascar. Certainly there was till recently (and may be still) a tortoise in the garden of the Governor of Cape-town which came there eighty years ago, and was believed to be 120 when it arrived.

Would Not Part With Dog.

Not only in England and America, but in Germany, fanciers pay high prices for dogs. At the recent exhibition of dogs at Cassel a Frenchman offered $2,000 for a police dog. The dog belongs to Sergeant Dacker, who refused the tempting offer, observing that his dog should not quit Germany at any price.

Love of Jewelry.

Reading that a red chequer homing pigeon, wearing a blue enamel ring marked 1911 L.8945, had been found at Ewell, Surrey, an old lady remarked, says London Punch, that it was terrible how the love of jewelry appeared to be spreading among all classes.

Ability Must Be Paid For.

There is an old saying that the gods sell us all the good they give us: The man of the most ability does not have it bestowed upon him without a price, and that price is self-control—a thing to be worked for laboriously, but which obtained is the first of faculties.

Influence of Words.

It is strange what an influence words have over men! Let one call a man an idiot without fighting him, and he is quite affected by it; let one compliment him on his talent without giving him money, and he feels happy.—Ivan Turgenieff.

Too Busy to Be Interrupted.

"Why didn't you notify Mrs. Wombot that her house was on fire?" "Well, I went over there for that purpose. But she's a rather keen bridge player, and I couldn't get an opportunity to interrupt the game."—Washington Herald.

Real Object of Life.

Pay as little attention to discouragements as possible, plow ahead as a steamer does, rough or smooth, rain or shine, to carry your cargo and make your port is the point.—Maltbie B. Babcock.

Portable Church in England.

An altar, duly consecrated by ecclesiastics, has been installed upon an automobile, the object being to promote mission work in the rural districts of England. It is a portable church.

Abc Martin Says.

When folks tell you you haunt changed a bit it's usually 'cause they can't think o' anything else 't say. It costs more t' keep th' good, will o' some people than it does a tour'n' car.

To Be Pardoned Mistakes.

Every honest man does what he does because he thinks at the time it is the best thing to do. Therefore, honest men should be forgiven mistakes.—The Macey Monthly.

The World's Great.

What the world calls a great man is usually one who has suffered so strangely that historic science considers it worth while to hold an autopsy.

A Weakness.

"How could I swear when there was no one to swear at," asked a defendant in a police court. Some people cannot do anything without an audience.

Hard to Get Away From.

Nothing is so difficult to uproot as inherited wrong-doing.
